About Me

Graphic designer with experience across visual identity, print and digital design, and website design and build. I have a strong focus on clarity, typography, and maintaining brand consistency across multiple touchpoints. I enjoy hands-on, in-house style roles where design supports campaigns, launches, and day-to-day brand communication from brief through to final delivery.

Alongside design work, I maintain a hands-on creative practice through sewing, ceramics, and moving image, informed by an ongoing interest in craft, structure, material, and process. I also value physical discipline through activities such as running, swimming, and training, which reinforces focus, consistency, and routine within my working practice.
